Prepular Thanksgiving Celebration - 20,000 Packages - Officers and Men Pretty Nurses

The Christmus steamer St. Paul at rived in port at a o'clock last Saturday night from San Francisco, weight ed down by many thousand presents for the soldier boys across the ocean and brightened by cheery-faced nurses who go to minister to the sick and wounded of Uncle Sam's army. Many of the latter are mere girls but nearly all are graduates, with a thorough knowledge of the business before them.

The St. Paul carries the first lot of female trained nurses ever sent out of the United States by the Government, and never has any Government provided such a generous quantity of space for Christmas presents for its Thirty-three nurses are on board. Sixteen stop at Honoiulu, while the rest will make the through passage to Manils. Of the entire lot fourteen are from the White Cross Society, which was founded at the opening of the war. in Portland, by Mrs. Jane B. Creigh-ton, and which has since become national in character.

Miss L. P. Bracher of the White Cross Society heads the delegation of nurses for Honolulu, and besides herself there are the Misses Cynthia E. Moore, Alice Laswell, Emma F. Smith, Josephine W. Rector, Sarah L. Schwartz, Jennie E. Gracier, D. Heien Cochrane, Helen Mahlum, Amelia la Voy, all of the White Cross; and the Misses Gertrude le Page, Albertie Ridley, Frances T. Montrose, Jennie M. Long, Jean L. Wells and Mrs. Mary E.

The nurses for Manila are in charge of Miss Mona Bowman of the White Cross and include from that society, the Misses Christine Bedell, Hattie Fenwick, and Helena Marshall; the rest comprise the Misses Ella Rist, Ottillie J. Karstens, Della Weeks, Flora E. Chatfield, Anna M. Kimball, Sarah L. Stowell, Caroline West, Mary E. Sloper, Cecelia Ecahart, Abbie H. Zaner, Josephine Dunn, Mabel I. Lake and Mary A. Hause.

The nurses are under contract, which can be broken on good excuses. In fact they can stay away as long or return as soon as they like.

Lieut. Dismukes of the Tennessee regiment is in charge of the soldiers going on the St. Paul. He has under him forty-five soldiers, most of whom are recruits. Among the civilians going are Anthony F. Timke of the Sub sistence Department, and Henry D. Woolfe, interpreter. Mr. Woolfe is ac-companied by his wife and family. Judge Waite, an attorney from Utah, is also a passenger.

Of presents there are more than 20,000 packages and they come from friends and relatives of the boys in the Philippines from Maine to Oregon.

The trip to Honolulu was thoroughly delightful, with pleasant weather and smooth seas. There was a jolly crowd on board and on Thanksgiving the regulation American dinner was given and an entertainment The St. Paul expects to finish coaling and sail for Manila by Wednesday and should arrive there about Decemfor the distribution before Christmas

The officers on board the St. Paul are nearly the same as per previous trip here, as follows: Commander, J. M. Hays; chief officer, W. Hawes; chief engineer, L. Cox; first assistant engineer, P. Owens; second assistant engineer, Geo. Durham; purser. E. L. Goald; chief steward, J. J. Fallon; second steward, Fred Stroymeyer, and a crew of seventy-five men.

Notice to Shipmasters. U. S. Branch Hydrographic Office,
